PROGRAM TWO (60 mins w/questions)

FORENSIC ACCOUNTING:

- How To Make A Winning Case Out of Nothing

Brief:

While described in words, cases are ultimately won on the basis of effectively derived and presented numbers, facts and documentation. This presentation will demonstrate how to do so even when you have little or nothing to start with.

Financial Arguments are won or lost based on the strength of the numbers. Very often, only one party in the argument has complete records and, typically, it is the other party that retains forensic accountants to help support a client's position. It is this client's position that this presentation will help.
